Methodological Notes

1. Objectives

The aim of Short-term Statistics is to provide users with information on the business cycle within the Services Sector. The results are compiled and published according to the Statistical Classification of Economic Activities in the European Community, NACE Rev. 2.

2. Scope of Short-term Statistics Indicators

According to the Regulation on Short-term Statistics, Services exclude Financial and Insurance Activities and Gambling and Betting Activities.

3. Data Collection and Index Compilation

Every quarter, questionnaires are sent to approximately 940 enterprises categorised within the Services Sector. The data are then grossed up to represent the entire Services population. A sample is selected for each NACE division (for example NACE division 45 for motor trade). The selected enterprises are requested to provide information, including turnover, employment and wages and salaries, on a quarterly basis. The indices are calculated for each division, showing the level of the specified variable (for example employment) relative to the average level throughout the base year 2010. The index numbers in this release are working-day and seasonally adjusted. These statistical methods aid interpretation of data by removing regularly recurring variations from a time series. Working-day adjustment is a statistical method for removing the calendar effect from an economic time series. The calendar effect is the variation caused by the changing number of working days in different quarters.

The number of working days for a given quarter may depend on the timing of certain public holidays, the possible overlap of certain public holidays and non-working days, and the occurrence of a leap year. This method is used to compare to the corresponding quarter of the previous year. Seasonal adjustment removes variations which include effects due to quarter length, holidays and particular events such as Christmas. Statistically, seasonal adjustment takes place after a time series has already been cleared of calendar effects by way of working-day adjustment. This method is used to compare data with the previous quarter. In both seasonal and working-day adjustment, the direct approach is used and refers to the adjustments of aggregated raw component.

4. Definitions

Turnover includes total sales and other income and is expressed net of VAT. Turnover is presented in current prices.

Employment covers all persons employed, regardless of whether they are part-time or full-time, and includes paid employees as well as working proprietors and unpaid family workers. Employment is not working-day adjusted since the number of employees does not depend on factors that make up the working-day effect.

Wages and Salaries cover wages and salaries including bonuses, weekly allowances (cost of living allowances), overtime and national social security contributions by the employee. The Employer's social security contributions are not included.

Hours Worked covers total amount of hours actually worked and includes regular working hours and those worked as overtime, as well as hours worked during nights, Sundays and public holidays. Hours worked but not paid are also considered.

5. Status of the Data

The data contained in this release should be considered as provisional and therefore subject to revision. Each release may include revisions of the past quarterly data in respect of a rolling two-year period.

6. Distribution of the aggregation weights by NACE classification is presented in the following table:
